■ The Department of Mathematics Southern Illinois University is pleased to announce a research conference in the areas of pure mathematics including algebra and number theory, combinatorics, geometry, logic, topology.

Invited and contributed talks are being sought at this time. Graduate students are welcome to participate.

Please submit an abstract of your presentation to: math@siu.edu by March 31st, 2019.

The Langenhop lecture series promotes the importance of mathematics/statistics to a general audience.

Accommodation and food are covered for participants. A small amount of travel support is available for graduate students.

This conference is partially funded by the NSA.
